

Program Name & CIP Code: 51.0706 Level: BA-Health Information Management

Example of Linkage between Expanded Statement of Institutional Purpose, Departmental/Program Intended Outcomes/Objectives, Assessment Criteria and Procedures,
Results, and Use of Results at our University

Expanded Statement of Institutional Purpose	Departmental/Program Intended Outcomes/objectives	Assessment Criteria & Procedures	Assessment Results	Use of Result
UCF is a metropolitan university committed to providing the finest undergraduate education in Florida, achieving international prominence in key graduate educational and research programs, promoting a global perspective, fostering inclusiveness and diversity, and becoming America's leading partnership university. The Health Information Management Program strives to provide its graduates with a marketable skill in the health care industry. The Program has a commitment to give its students a quality education, both through didactic and clinical instruction, in the field of Health Information Management.	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> Graduates will be well prepared in each of the following areas to enter the field of health information management: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> Management/supervision Computer skills HIM skills (such as coding) Clinical background (medical terminology, anatomy, physiology, pathophysiology, and pharmacology) Graduates of the Health Information Management Program will score at least at the "Very Good" level on the evaluation of their final clinical experience (the Management Affiliation). Graduates will perform at or above the passing score on the National Registration Examination administered by American Health Information Management Association. 	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> Ninety percent of employers will "agree" or "strongly agree" that the HIM Program graduates are well prepared in each of the four subject areas identified. Ninety percent of graduates will "agree" or "strongly agree" that they are well prepared in the four subject categories identified, according to an Alumni Survey conducted one year following graduation from the program. Ninety percent of students will receive an overall rating of at least "Very Good" on the final clinical evaluation done just prior to graduation from the program. Ninety percent of the graduates will score at or above the passing score on the national Registration Examination administered by the American Health Information Management Association. 	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> Results from the latest Employer Survey showed that ninety three percent of employers surveyed "agreed" or "strongly agreed" that HIM Program graduates were well prepared in the four subject areas. Results from the latest Alumni Survey showed that one hundred percent of graduates "agreed" or "strongly agreed" that they were well prepared in the four subject areas. One hundred percent of last year's graduates received an overall rating of at least "Very Good" on the final clinical evaluation. For each of the past five years, eighty-five percent of students have scored at or above the passing score on the national Registration Examination administered by the American Health Information Management Association. 	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> Target met. This information has been utilized for curriculum review and modification. Continue to monitor. Target met. Information has been used for curriculum review and modification. Continue to monitor. Target met. Information has been used for review of both didactic and clinical portions of the HIM curriculum. Continue to monitor. Target not met. Information has been used for curriculum and course modification, as well as addition of or changes in adjunct faculty and/or modification of teaching methods. Continue to monitor.